

County Donegal Tidal Energy Meetings Open to All: October 13 and 14

The Sustainable Energy Authority of Ireland recently funded a project that will assess the feasibility of tidal energy development in County Donegal.

ORPC Ireland, a subsidiary of Ocean Renewable Power Company, LLC, cordially invites everyone to attend meetings in Killybegs and Carrigart on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week to discuss tidal energy development and related opportunities in County Donegal.

The community's input on this process is essential to appropriately and responsibly characterise how opportunities for tidal energy development can be harnessed in a manner that realise its potential for the betterment of the various communities in the County. We look forward to receiving your feedback and providing further details on our experience developing tidal energy project in the United States.
